

HISTORY OF COMMUNISM IN EUROPE A NEW JOURNAL OF COMPARATIVE STUDIES

From 2006 to 2009, the Institute for the Investigation of the Communist Crimes in Bucharest has published its yearbook only for the Romanian readers. The Institute has marked its fifth anniversary and its change in the scholarly leadership by launching the international series of the journal under a new title and format: History of Communism in Europe (HCE). This peer-reviewed periodical provides an interdisciplinary forum for explorations in the multifaceted history of the Communist regimes in Romania, Eastern Europe, and elsewhere. HCE aims to attract Romanian and international scholars interested in the history and the memory of the far-left ideologies, which have preceded, coincided with, and followed in the wake of the Cold War. The editors encourage original contributions regarding the largely unknown or under-studied aspects of the Communist past in Europe. Future issues will deal with:

- The interaction between Communist ideology and society, economy, education, culture, and religion.
- Intellectual life under Communist dictatorship.
- The study of the repressive mechanisms.
- The impact of ideological radicalism on public policy, political attitudes, and decision-making between 1945-1989.
- The contemporary revival of far-left ideologies in the Western hemisphere, Russia and elsewhere.
- Ethnic minorities under Communist ideologies.

HCE promotes original scholarship that demonstrates an awareness of the methodological problems raised by the study of totalitarianism.

A special feature of the journal will be its Book Review section. The contributor of a study, article or review-article receives a copy of the journal issue. The authors may purchase additional copies or offprints.

The studies, articles and reviews which have been accepted and published become the property of the Journal, and permission to republish must be obtained from the editors.

The books sent for reviewing purposes may belong to the author of the book-review, after its publication.

All catalogues, brochures and leaflets from the academic publishers may be sent to the address below. Also, books for review should be sent to:
